In an overwhelming show of support for fairness, The Alabama House of Representatives passed the Education Trust Fund Budget. "While we all wish for a better economy, the truth is that a slow recovery seems to be a reality. Given these circumstances, the Higher Education Partnership thanks the governor and the legislature for this year's budget. It is fair and shows respect for all of public education. It allows all of us to work through these difficult times, together." said Gordon Stone, Executive Director of the Higher Education Partnership.
